$26 Tax Rate Can Be Held

The Finance Committee has assured taxpayers that the $26 tax rate can be maintained, if the recommendations of the advisory group are followed at town meeting.

In a letter to all voters, which will be included in the annual report of the FinCom, the group has pointed out that any substantial appropriations, other than those approved, will increase the rate. The appropriation of $85,000 means $1 on the rate.

The total budget recommended by the Finance Committee is $2,967,529.

All special articles, to the tune of $341,143.96, will be paid for from surplus cash, according to the report. If this is done, with no further expenditures, the town will maintain a creditable $221,942.78 balance in the free cash account.

Percentages Listed

Of the departmental budgets, the highest is the School Department, with 43.7 percent of the total.

A political campaign that appears to have captured little of the public's attention swings to a close this week, with election four days away.

Political observers seem agreed that a small vote can be expected Monday, when the polls remain open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

By small, they mean about 50 percent of the 8,914 who are eligible to cast their ballots.

Despite the presence of three candidates for Selectman and three others for School Committee, the campaign seems to have failed to catch the public imagination to any great degree.

Considerable work has, of course, been carried on by the (Continued on Page 12)

I believe:

that much better results could be obtained with the present tax dollar.

I know:

that better and more substantial educational offerings are long overdue.

You should know:

that a large geographical segment of the Town is not now represented.

The low morale in the public schools is not without causes — causes which the School Committee could have corrected many times. Improvements are needed, and solutions of our school problems are urgent, as evidenced by the meetings, conferences and committees constantly re-studying them. The School Committee has a great public responsibility. It has been evading that obligation and serving the interests of a few.

3 Groups Endorse Conservation Article

Representatives of the League of Women Voters, Garden Club and the Andover Village Improvement Society met recently to discuss an article in the Town Warrant, which if enacted will establish a Conservation Committee for the Town of Andover.

The duties of such a commission are the "promotion and development of natural resources and the protection of watershed resources of the town".

This article was entered in the warrant by the Garden Club. The AVIS is actively supporting it and the League of Women Voters voted to back it at their January general meeting.

Albert Retelle, president of the AVIS, feels there should be a town agency to further conservation. There is no existing agency solely concerned with local watershed areas and retention of open land.

Mrs. Henry Van Zandt, vice president of the Garden Club, remarked that these local Conservation Commissions are being formed throughout the state. There are now 20 of them and 15 towns have articles similar to Andover's in their town warrants this year. Ipswich and Nahant, in Essex County, have functioning conservation commissions. Garden Clubs throughout the state have been active in alerting the community to the need for such a town agency.

Mrs. Joshua Miner, Conservation chairman of the League of Women Voters, stated that the League has studied national water problems for four years and has decided that water problems must be attacked at the local level. A Conservation Commission for the town is a beginning of local responsibility within this field. Water pollution is another integral part of this agencies concerns.

This Commission would not conflict with local groups already in operation, it is explained. The AVIS is a private organization anxious to preserve natural resources but unable to do more than suggest policy changes.

The AVIS is anxious to cooperate with a town agency. The Land Acquisition Committee is only empowered to buy specific parcels of land for specific purposes. Mrs. Waters Kellogg director of the Massachusetts Audubon Society and director of the New England Wild Life Preservation Society, told the group that Mr. C. Henry Foster, Commissioner of Natural Resources for Massachusetts, has asked the towns of Massachusetts to establish Conservation Commissions to help him in his work.

The members of the Commission would be not less than three, not more than seven, appointed by the town manager for three year terms. They would serve without pay. The article calls for no appropriation of money. Their duties would be advisory. They would watch over existing resources as well as advise the town manager as to further purchases.

The Garden Club, AVIS and League of Women Voters jointly voted to urge the citizens to vote for the establishment of the Commission at town meeting, March 12.

RECREATION PANEL IS MARCH 8

mas W. McGrath, member of the Concord School Committee and former member of the Concord Recreation Committee, will speak on a "Well Rounded Community Recreation Program". A. W. Fuller will be moderator.

The League of Women Voters, sponsor of this meeting, invites the public to come and learn what a community can do in the field of recreation. The purpose of the evening is to bring together people from all sections of town who are interested in recreation. After the panel discussion and a general question period, a Community Council will be formed.

Community Councils are used in many towns to help existing agencies and to provide a way for more citizen participation. It is felt that this Council would study the needs of Andover, develop a plan of action and co-operate with town boards in carrying it out.

The report of the League of Women Voters Recreation Committee on recreation in Andover and neighboring towns is on file in the Library, available to those interested. The League feels strongly that a town will have, and should have, only those facilities that its residents want. And they thus urge residents to attend the meeting March 8 and make their opinions known.

PERSONAL

Mrs. Alex Cathro has returned to her home in Holyoke after spending several days with Mrs. George Addison of Chandler rd.

Police Trapped
Note Writer

A carefully laid trap by Andover police paid off last Sunday night, when they arrested a man accused of leaving a series of indecent letters in and around the railroad station.

The man, Franklin E. Pierce, 24, 5 Prospect st., Woburn, was fined $50 by Judge John J. Darcy Monday morning in District Court, after a guilty finding on charges of being a lewd person.

Sgt. Robert Deyermund testified that, after several complaints, Officer William Tammany drew up an answer to one of the letters, which was left where the defendant could find it. Then the spot was watched between 7-8 p.m. Sunday.

Sgt. Deyermund drove by the railroad station and saw the accused man sitting in a car on Essex st., where he could see the station. Deyermund parked his own vehicle where he could watch Pierce, without being seen.

The trap closed around Pierce at 8 o'clock, when Officer Tammany arrived at the station in his own car, driven by a young woman. Tammany was hidden in the rear seat. Within two minutes, Pierce had driven along side the Tammany car, and was met by the officer.

The testimony indicated that the defendant had written several letters and left them where they could be found, doing so on three different occasions. He was unable to explain why he wrote the notes.

Dear Friends and Gentle People:

"Thank You" is such a small word and doesn't seem half enough to express how we feel, but I shall try. George and I are most grateful for all your many kindnesses to both of us. Our hearts are so filled with love and gratitude for all your many prayers, cards, letters and gifts that we are most humble.

We thank you for your patience in waiting for orders. But, we are getting better organized now and very shortly we hope to give you the same efficient service you have always had here.

George and I pray that God will help each and every one of you in whatever your needs may be as you are helping us. With the help of the Lord and the good doctors, I pray he will be thanking you in person in the near future.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Your Duty To Vote

Almost to a man, experienced town officials and political observers have concluded that next Monday's election will be one of the quietest in many years — in fact, they predict about 50 percent of the voters will take the trouble to vote.

This is a deplorable situation.

For whether there are few candidates or many, every adult who is registered here should take the few minutes needed to go to the precinct polling place and cast a ballot.

There should be considerable interest, generated by the knowledge that the offices to be filled are important ones. No matter how many issues have, or have not, been raised, each voter should measure up to his or her responsibility as an intelligent adult.

In far too many cases, voters are inclined to leave the selection of officials up to a relative handful — thus abandoning their personal responsibility at election.

It would be a pleasant surprise next Monday to find that the political observers have been wrong — that Andover's voters take their responsibilities seriously and turn out in numbers far exceeding the predictions.

Hear The Experts

Recreation has become a significant public issue recently, with the publication of the League of Women Voters report and the insertion of a town meeting article relating to tennis courts.

With these two developments, the town's recreation program abruptly departed from the efficiently routine summer programs, becoming an issue which the townspeople should examine thoroughly. For now we face the prospect of the program being broadened, with great emphasis on recreation for more children and for their parents as well.

It would seem to be the responsibility of every alert resident of the community to attend the Recreation Panel March 8 in the Central School Auditorium. Only by hearing the experiences of others, and thoroughly discussing the ideas that might be adapted for use in Andover, can we determine to what extent the town's program should be enlarged.

The formation of a Community Council on recreation, which is proposed to follow the panel, should be the business of every individual. For such a Council must, in the long run, know what the townspeople want in recreation and to what extent they are willing to foot the bills.

Where's Your Sticker?

There has been a lot of pro and con discussion of the stickers currently being issued to all those who wish to use the town dump.

Most of it centers around the requirement that the stickers be affixed to the car windows — preferably the "wing" window on the driver's side.

Some folks just don't like the idea. They prefer to leave the windows unobstructed, except for the state-required stickers. And they have announced their intention to carry the sticker in the glove compartment, where it will be available for identification if needed. These people wonder if the town can require compliance with the ruling, or whether this must be adopted as a by-law by the voters at town meeting.

This is an interesting point — but we think it's overly technical. It is doubtful whether reasonable town officials will ever attempt to enforce the rule so stringently that a test must be made of it.

Rather, it would seem that any resident, who can prove his right to use the facility, would be admitted to the dump. Whether the sticker is on the window, or in the glove compartment, would seem only incidental. After all, the responsible town officials merely are attempting to provide a method for quick identification by having the sticker visible. They certainly are not trying to deprive residents of their rights.

Down the Years with The Townsman

50 Years Ago — March, 1910

Mrs. Joseph W. Smith and Miss B. Smith have gone south for a few days.

James Gillen, who is supposed to have figured in the elopement of the son of Secretary of State Knox, by being best man, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gillen of Washington ave.

Fred Westcott has left the employ of the J. P. Wakefield Co. to work for the Stanley Machine Co. of Lawrence.

George D. Lawson Jr. has been appointed head of the dyeing department of Merrimack Print Works in Lowell.

The School Committee met Tuesday evening and organized for the year. Colver J. Stone is the chairman; George A. Christie, secretary. New members are Thomas Rhodes and A. E. Stearns.

John Holt has been elected president of the new Pynchard Alumni Association. Both Fred Cheever and George A. Higgins are vice presidents.

25 Years Ago — March, 1935

J. Everett Collins, who last year was elected to the School Committee, won an upset victory over veteran Selectman Frank H. Hardy Monday. He beat Mr. Hardy by 63 votes for Selectman and by a larger margin for assessor. An unusual part of the election was the refusal to count votes by blocks of 50 in three of the four precincts. An election official in each of the polling places refused to make this decision unanimous, a requirement of the law. In late afternoon, the individual in each of the precincts gave approval. Officials claim it has been a practice for information to "leak" out of the polling places, giving some candidates an advantage over others during the day.

Ground may be broken for the new school next Monday. The general contract for the work has been awarded to the Thomas O'Connor Co. of Boston.

An army can't march on an empty stomach, and neither can an army of shovelers shovel snow on empty stomachs. Thus the Board of Public Works advanced $124.10 to the shovelers the night of the big storm, for sandwiches and coffee. No receipts were obtained. Now the Selectmen won't approve the bill, because the town treasurer is supposed to pay all bills. The BPW was supposed to have issued food orders, not take the money from petty cash.

10 Years Ago — March, 1950

Veterans who wish to occupy the apartments in the new housing project must re-apply. The Authority has some 200 applications, many a year old. Now all those seriously interested must fill out the application forms a second time.

There is considerable interest in the election next Monday, with contests for seats on the School Committee and the Board of Public Works.

Town meeting March 13th will witness a sharp clash between the Board of Public Works and the Taxpayers' Association. The two groups differ over how to improve the water supply, and the cost of the proposed work.

The Board of Trustees of the Servicemen's Fund has elected officers. They are Charles O. McCullom, chairman; Chester W. Holland, vice chairman; James P. Christie, treasurer; and Atty. Anna M. Greeley, secretary.

State engineers have reported to the Selectmen on traffic safety suggestions in Shawsheen, presented several weeks ago by the PTA. Most of the ideas have not been approved by the state, which has control of No. Main st. through the Village.

Priscilla Abbot Chapter, N.S.D.A.R., will hold an open meeting, with all townspeople welcome, at Christ Church Parish House March 14. The topic of the evening will be "New Bedford and the Whalers".

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:

"It was useful of the Townsman, Feb. 11 issue, to report that the office of town manager is against job protection for those few town employees who remain without it."

"In Andover the public school teachers have a long record of protection by tenure in office. In recent years teachers have been protected in refusing to do work which is not in their category and the school has hired other people to do such work. Police and fire departments have full civil service rights. Even some publicly-elected officials have tenure of office. And directly to the point, the town manager himself is protected from the ambitions of any two men above him. To all that we can add the following:

"Andover is in a period of experimentation with its form of government. It's likely to last four or five years more. Therefore, those employees of the town who must do its work every day, regardless of what shifts and removals take place at the top of the policy and administration ladders, are now more than ever entitled to, and need, the limited protection that civil service gives them."

Karl Haartz

To the Editor of the Townsman:

"Everyone who has attended one or more of the recent meetings of the School Committee and the various P.T.A.'s, or a meeting where candidates for School Committee have been asked questions, must surely agree that the citizens of Andover hold their School Committee responsible for the supervision of a wide variety of activities. The topics discussed have ranged from details of curriculum and teacher salary scales all the way to the condition of the shower stalls at the Junior High!

"Here, Mr. Editor, is the answer to the important questions you raised in your editorial page last fall concerning the function of the School Committee and the qualifications of candidates for it."

"The people of the town have defined the job of the School Committee very broadly. They should therefore look for breadth of ability and character in the individual they select to join the School Committee. Over and above the personal qualities of honesty, integrity and courage, they should be particularly concerned with a candidate's ability to analyze problems, sift facts from conflicting opinions and pull together a wide variety of ideas into a comprehensible program."

"Beyond this, the people of the

Dr. Fuess' "Andover: Symbol Of New England", Miss Carpenter's "Abbot and Miss Bailey and Abbot In The Early Days" and "About The Town Of Andover", the recent publication of the Andover League of Women Voters, will all be included and evaluated in her discussion.

Books on contemporary affairs, biographies, music, theater and essays are numbered among the titles selected for review.

All are most cordially urged to take advantage of this introduction to new books.

town should be concerned about the composition of the School Committee as a whole, so that it may have the broadest possible array of talent to bring to bear upon the complex problems ahead. We must always remember that these problems will never be of just one sort. Matters of finance will be mixed with matters of educational practice and the School Committee will have to dig just as deeply into the details of building maintenance as it will into the problems of attracting and holding good teachers.

"If we agree with this definition of the function of the School Committee, then each of us must judge the individual candidates in terms of these broad requirements. I hope that others will find the criteria suggested in this letter of help to them in making their choices."

tained only by using $60,000 from surplus revenue for the specific purpose of rate reduction. This is a practice that is customary, and a standard article is in the warrant for the transfer.

The FinCom figures show estimated costs, in addition to the recommended budgets, to be $164,794.40. These include state charges, county tax, TB hospital, assessors' overlay, and any other normal charges made against the town.

Thus a grand total of $3,132,323.40 is established.

Deducted from this amount is a total of $862,323.40, leaving a balance of $2,270,000.

The deductions include all money coming back from the state - indicated to be about $331,450 - about $9,900 from poll taxes, and the balance, from fees and payments received by the town such as water payments.

Taking the $2,270,000 balance, the figures indicate that $60,000 is deducted, leaving the net amount to be raised as $2,210,000.

Surplus Account
Comparing the surplus cash account with a year ago, the Finance Committee states that $189,666 remained in this account in 1959, after $305,568 had been transferred to meet appropriations of town meeting.

In 1960, the account stands at $563,086.74; the FinCom recommends using $341,143.96; and the balance would be a healthy $221,942.78.

Thinks Book Is What Town Needs

By Miriam Putnam

Andover should have a best-seller on its hands with the publication of the recent pamphlet "About The Town Of Andover, Massachusetts", compiled by the League of Women Voters of Andover.

This handbook is indispensable to every individual and family group in Andover. It will help settle arguments and clear up uncertainties about the functioning of our town government.

We have long needed this publication and we prophesy a long and useful life for it.

The spring election and the annual town meeting are just around the corner, so that the appearance of this handbook is particularly timely. It answers such questions as who can become a voter, how our town meeting is carried on, how the warrant is prepared and what is in it, how the moderator conducts the town meeting and, of course, much more.

There is a very useful chapter on town finance, very interesting right now when we are thinking about the 1960 tax rate. How is the tax rate set? Where does the money come from and where does it go? All this is made quite clear through the text and the excellent charts which accompany it.

If there is any confusion about the role that each department plays or about what duties our town officials perform, this handbook will clear it up.

What about the future of Andover? How well are we planning? The handbook has a section on planning, zoning, subdivision control and urban renewal.

Three hundred years of Andover's history have been skillfully compressed into seven pages, yet what is important is included. Brief mention is made of Andover's natural features.

This handbook will have many uses. Here is the material to answer the many inquiries which come to the Andover Board of Trade from people who are moving to this area. The Development and Industrial Commission, too, should find it useful to send to industrial prospects. Boys and girls will need it for their project on Andover, and college students making community surveys.

Andover, England has long had such a handbook. We have had a copy for some years and have wished that we had had something similar to send in return. How we have! A copy will be sent immediately to the public Library in Andover, Hampshire, England.

The handbook is a fine piece of work! Copies are available at many places in the community. Get yours now.

ANNUAL MEETING

The Annual Business Meeting of the Andover CO-OP will take place next Tuesday, March 8, at the Andover Country Club. Turkey Dinner is at 7 (buy your tickets at the CO-OP - $1.25). The business meeting starts at 8:15.

Why will hundreds of citizens from Andover and adjoining towns attend this stockholders' meeting when the usual stockholders' meeting is so ill attended?

It is because the Andover CO-OP is different. It is the difference which accounts for the remarkable growth and the extraordinary loyalty which our members show toward this truly democratic business - now on the move.

That is why we confidently expect hundreds of local members at our annual meeting next Tuesday. They will attend because, no matter how little stock they each may own, they feel that this is their business, that they own it and control its destiny. They realize that they are responsible for its past growth, its present expansion and its future standing in this community, where it is dedicated to serve the interests of the consumer.

candidates and their friends. Numerous "coffees" have been held throughout the community, as has been a local campaign custom for several years.

But most of the so-called political experts feel that the outcome of the election depends not so much on the wide popularity of any of the candidates as on the strength of their political organization to seek out the voters Monday and take them to the polling places.

Where You Vote

Precinct one voters - with 1,948 eligible - will cast their ballots at the Central Fire Station.

In Precinct two there are 1,339 voters eligible to vote at the Square and Compass Hall.

The Sacred Heart School in Shawsheen is the polling place for the 1,669 eligible residents of Precinct three.

In Precinct four, the Grange Hall will be used as a polling place. There are 1,396 eligible men and women in that Precinct. Precinct five's voting place is the fire station in Ballardvale, with 717 voters on the list.

The Peabody House on Phillips st. will serve as a polling place in Precinct six, where there are 1,845 voters.

All of the town's polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Most observers feel that the votes will be completely counted soon after the closing time, based on the usual custom of counting by blocks of 50 during the day.

Mrs. Hammond stressed the Planning Board's belief that the rezoning should come close to first, and not in scattered lots of the town that are hard to deal with facilities and services. She told the Selectmen that the town has four times as much land for residential use as it had in the next 20 years.

"That's why", she said, "can have great variations in sizes of lots".

Under the questioning of Eugene A. Bernard, former member of the Board, Mrs. Hammond told the Planning Board's rezoning plan would slow down if the lots are approved. The purpose of the rezoning, she stressed several times, is an orderly progression from closer to the outskirts to scattered dense pickets. She termed the "least economical" for the town.

Cluster Zoning

Cluster zoning - proposed by another town meeting, plays a part in the Board's plan for the future, including two-acre areas, if approved. Mrs. Hammond said the "cluster" plan is permitted by the Planning Board and is a better plan than a conventional plan.

Under this type of zoning, lot sizes and frontages below the requirements of the zoning area. This is done to take advantage of topography, she explained.

The result is that much land area can be left in its natural state, she continued, with roads and utilities are substantially less than required under a conventional plan.

The proposed article would land in the B and C zones to Zone D if that is approved by the voters.

Only sub-divisions of lots or more would qualify, then at the discretion of the Planning Board, it was emphasized.

Says 2-Acre Lots Make Good Sense

Proposed two-acre house lot is not designed to slow down or stop residential development, the Selectmen were told Monday night, by Planning Board Secretary Virginia Hammond.

Rather, she stated, the zoning is intended to make better planning possible, and is not of a permanent nature. She emphasized that, as areas closer to town are developed, it would be reasonable to expect that the two-acre areas would be rezoned for smaller lots.

Mrs. Hammond stressed the Planning Board's belief that development should come closer to town center, and not in scattered areas of the town that are hard to reach with facilities and services.

She told the Selectmen that the Board's planning consultant has found that the town has three or four times as much land zoned for residential use as it will need in the next 20 years.

"That's why," she said, "we can have great variations in the sizes of lots."

The zoning discussion occupied an hour of the Selectmen's time, as they carefully discussed all the proposed changes in zoning that will face the voters March 12 at town meeting.

Under the questioning of Chairman Eugene A. Hammond Jr., a former member of the Planning Board, Mrs. Hammond talked about the Planning Board's belief that residential development may not slow down if the large lots are approved. The purpose, she stressed several times, is to have an orderly progression of development from closer to town towards the outskirts - without scattered dense pockets which she termed the "least economical" for the town.

Cluster Zoning
Cluster zoning - proposed in another town meeting article - plays a part in the Board's plan for the future, including the two-acre areas, if approved.

Mrs. Hammond said the "cluster" plan is permissive with each developer, and is approved by the Planning Board only if it is a better plan than a conventional one for the same area.

Under this type of zoning, the lot sizes and frontages may vary below the requirements for the zoning area. This is done to take advantage of topography of the land, she explained.

The result is that much of the land area can be left in a natural state, she continued, while the roads and utilities are substantially less than required under a conventional plan.

The proposed article will apply to land in the B and C zones, and to Zone D if that is approved by the voters.

Only sub-divisions of 10 acres or more would qualify, and only then at the discretion of the Planning Board, it was emphasized.

Joseph Doherty, secretary of the Industrial Commission, told the Selectmen during the meeting that reduced requirements for setbacks, as listed in an article, may help the Commission as it seeks industry. He explained that the original requirements on setbacks result in placing buildings out of sight of Route 93 in West Andover - while many firms want to be seen from the road.

Problems concerning the minimum 10-acre plot, and the overall amount of land in the industrial zone, are under discussion he told the Selectmen, and will be the subject of some zoning articles within a year.

Lowell Street Zone

Some mention was made of the objections to proposed re-zoning of land at the junction of Route 93 and Lowell st., for an insurance building.

Mrs. Hammond reported that the residents who live in the small pocket of residential area object strongly to the re-zoning.

But she suggested that the change to industrial might be in their best interests, financially.

The area, she explained, is surrounded by industrial and commercial land. The change is being sought so that an insurance office building can be erected.

It has been suggested previously that the owners of the land in the residential section would benefit by having the zoning changed, because they could get more money for the property under those conditions. On the other hand, it has been explained, property values will go down if it remains residential.

Academy have been named finalists in the 1959-60 competition of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation Program and have been awarded Certificates of Merit, according to John M. Kemper, Headmaster.

Those receiving awards were John A. Bissell of San Jose, Cal.; Peter D. Brownrigg of Leesburg, Va.; Joseph W. Castello of Bridgeport, Conn.; William S. Cheng of State College, Pa.; Michael S. Drooker of Nahant; David W. Dumas of Amesbury; Richard M. Ellegood of Encino, Cal.; William R. Ferguson of Milford, N. H.; Carl E. Friedberg of Scranton, Pa.; Steven B. Goldin of Greenport, N. Matson of Lowell; Shian MacLean of Exira, Iowa; Miller L. Macmillan of Washington, D. C.; Peter J. Mandelbaum of New York City; Edward F. Martin of Darien, Conn.; Christopher F. McKee of Wright-Patterson A.F.B., Ohio; Eric W. Petraske of Nashua, N.H.; Martin Quinn of San Francisco, Cal.; Richard R. Ross of Whitehouse, N. Y.; Robert W. Russ of Hancock, N. H.; Jerome S. Shimp of Whitehouse Station, N. J.; Seth

D. Shulman of Brookline; John H. Smolens of Chatham, N. J.; Thomas C. Todd Jr. of Bristol, Tenn.; Franklin B. Velle of Great Neck, N. Y.; Thomas H. Whitesides of Anchorage, Ky.; Anthony B. Williams of Walpole.

The seniors distinguished themselves by their high scores on two college aptitude tests used in the National Merit Scholarship competition. About six-tenths of one per cent of the seniors in each state received the awards. A national total of 10,000 students were honored.

Over 550,000 students were tested in the 1959-60 National Merit Scholarship competition, which began last April. The test results have pared the competitors down to the 10,000 finalists from which the Merit Scholars will be selected and announced this spring. They, and the colleges they have chosen, will share in the several million dollars in Merit Scholarship funds to be offered by over 110 different organizations and individuals and by the Corporation itself. The winners will be announced about April 27. Previous experience indicates that the finalists will be offered some $2.5 million worth of freshman-year scholarship assistance from these sources, in addition to the awards made to those selected as Merit

Scholars. "The Certificate of Merit winners, the top performers in the competition, constitute the country's most valuable single resource," said John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. "Representing the best of each state in the Union they deserve the maximum recognition and encouragement every citizen concerned with the future of America. The highest record of the Merit Scholars in other years speaks for itself. The far-sighted donors who have sponsored Merit Scholarships in previous years have made an incalculable investment which will benefit everyone. We urge others to join them in this important cause for excellence."

The selection of the finalists who will be awarded Merit Scholarships in 1960 is performed by the Merit Scholarship Selection Committee, a panel of experts in academic selection, and by special judging teams convened by various donors of Merit Scholarships. High school grades, leadership, citizenship, and extra-curricular activities are considered as well as test scores.

Merit Scholarships are four-year awards, and carry stipends that range from $100 a year to $1,500 a year. Each stipend is individually determined on the basis of need. The amount is based upon family resources, former earnings, and college expenses all of which vary for each winner.

Hixon Attended Curriculum Session

Wilbur Hixon, a new social studies teacher at Andover High School, recently attended a very interesting and important conference on curriculum at Harvard University.

This conference was held to introduce a new type of social studies curriculum into high schools throughout the country. The program consisted of many informative lectures by the faculty of Watchung Hills High School, where this type of curriculum is now being used. Later there was a critique period in which many outstanding educators such as Professor Edward Fenton of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Professor John Whiting of Harvard University, Leonard James, chairman of the history department at Phillips Academy, and Warren Loring of the Wheatly School, voiced their views on the new curriculum. Before the conference closed at the end of the day, there was a panel discussion.

Mr. Hixon is the first social studies teacher from Andover High School to attend such a conference this year. During the rest of the year other teachers will attend educational conferences to work out a better and more interesting type of curriculum.

What Our Readers Say—

(Ed. Note: Although we do not as a rule publish letters that are unsigned, we think this "Rat's Eye View" is too funny not to pass on to the readers, and is not offensive to anyone.)
To the Editor of the Townsman:
"Due to progress in our town, we, the rodents of the town refuse area, commend Town Manager Duff in proclaiming our area closed on Sunday. It means so much to us to have a day free from public invaders.

"We can leisurely enjoy this can or that can, curl up in an old boot or antique chair or couch that someone just hated to part with.

"The town folk, you should see 'em, do they get a charge at our park. We ought to charge admission. Like an amusement on a carnie freeway, they all make like Ted Williams, pitching, heaving, grunting, shoving all kinds of fall-out. What you don't know about your neighbors, we do. We also get the marksman who misses everything but the large oil drums.

"The hobbyists with phobias of pick-up-itis lead the field in 'how to get the most out of your day off' or 'there is enough for everyone'.

"We are grateful again for blocking the embargo of neighboring communities. If what they had wasn't good enough for their town, why leave it with us. We're so used to our own crowd and their handouts that outside help was becoming a nuisance.

"Observed by our Private Eye: 'Here comes one now; new car; sticker on windshield, says "Squaw Valley", some place; here's another one! What does it say? 'Town Dump'; that's us."

Joe Rodent

Andover, Mass.

Camp Fire Girls Will Celebrate

Plans for the celebration of Camp Fire Girls Week have been announced by Mrs. Frank B. Santuccio, District Chairman of the Merrimack Valley District of Greater Boston Council of Camp Fire Girls.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the founding of the organization, but extensive celebrating has been postponed until November, in deference to the Boy Scouts who are currently observing their Golden Jubilee.

In accordance with the first two words of the Camp Fire Law, "Worship God", members will appropriately begin the week with Camp Fire Sunday March 13. Girls will attend church services, in complete costume, at the following churches: St. Augustine's Church, 8 a.m. Mass; St. Michael's Church, No. Andover, 9:15 a.m. Mass; Christ Episcopal Church, family service at 9:15 a.m.; and St. Paul's Episcopal Church, No. Andover, 11 a.m.

Jewish girls are invited to attend services at either of both places of worship as the guests of the Catholic and Protestant girls. An invitation has been received from Msgr. John P. Carroll of the Boston Archdiocese for girls of the Catholic faith to take part in special services to be held at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross that same day at 2 p.m. Highlight of the ceremony will be the awarding of the Marian Medal to eligible girls. It is suggested that the girls receive Holy Communion in their parish churches in the morning and go to the Cathedral in the afternoon.

The annual Mother-Daughter banquet will be held Wednesday, March 16, at 6:15 p.m. in Freedom's Hall, Broadway, Lawrence. Miss Sylvia E. Kooser, executive director of the Greater Boston Council of Camp Fire Girls will be the guest speaker. Films of Camp Harold Parker, the CFG day camp which was inaugurated last summer, will be shown and there will be games and dancing in charge of the combined Junior High Clubs. Tickets and further information are available from the leaders of all groups and files are being sent home to the parents. Final reservations must be made by March 11.

Thursday, March 17, is Founder's Day and all Blue-Birds and Camp Fire Girls are requested to wear their complete costumes to school in observance of Camp Fire's 50th birthday.
